STILL IN THE MIDST OF THE DEBATE. MESSRS. GROSVENOR, RAYNER, NUTTING, HENDER-

SON, HEMPHILL AND GALLINGER TAKE PART. WASHINGTON, April 30.—The debate on the tariff In the House to-day was followed with considerable interest by men on either side and was enlivened by several spirited colloquies between Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Hemphill, of South Carolina; Rayner, of Maryland, and Nutting, of New-York, and others. One speech in favor of the bill was delivered by Rayner, and three against it by Grosvenor, Henderson, of Iowa, and Gallinger. All of them were good. General Grosvenor said that he grew up on a farm in free-trade days, and he drew an effective contrast between the condition of the American farmer of to-day and thirty years

Mr. Hemphill wanted him to explain why agricultural and other labor is not as well paid in the South as in the North, but the Ohioan said that while he could give a satisfactory reason, he did not wish to say anything which might grate on the feelings of Southern Representatives.

In the course of the colloquy, Hemphill asserted that the cotton manufacturers in South Carolina and Georgia reap annual profits ranging from eighteen to twenty-three per cent; but according to a Georgia Representative two of the Georgia mills paid dividends of eight or eight and a half per cent last year, while the remainder paid six per cent. "Southern cotton manufacturers can compete with the world if you will remove the duty rom cotton machinery," declared Hemphill. After General Grosvenor had concluded his ex-pellent speech, Mr. Rayner, the bright young Rebrew member from the IVth Maryland District, took up the cudgel for the "Dark-Lanteru" bill. The district is one in which there are large glass manufactories, and Rayner, unfortunately for himself, consented to answer some questions by Judge Nutting, of New-York, who also represents a district in which the making of glass is an important industry. Rayner admitted that he thought the bill cut the rates on glass too deeply and said that he would offer amendments to that part of the bill; he added: "But if the amendments are rejected, I will vote for the bill because it is the command of the Democratic party." In various forms he repeated this declaration at least a half dozen times. He denied that the reduction of duties would affect wages, or that the workingmen are hostile to the measure.

""Well," said Judge Nutting, "two thousand glass-workers in my district sent a petition to me against this bill, and I shall vote against it."

"Oh, then, you stand here as the representative of the glass interest," retorted Rayner, who then proceeded to criticise men who, he said, came to district in which the making of glass is an im-proceeded to criticise man who, he said, came to Congress as the representatives of special interests.

"I, too, have received such petitions as the gentleman mentions," he exclaimed, "but I do not propose to be controlled by them. I regard them as of little or no value."

"Have you received a single petition in favor of the bill?" asked Nutting.

Rayner was not able to say that he had, but he knew that public sentiment favors the bill because "all the newspapers except THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE and a few other journals which are subsidized by the Protective League advocate its passage." "How about 'The Irish World?' " asked a Re-

"How about "The Irish World?" asked a Republican.

"Oh, I don't have time to read it. I get 'The Irish World' and 'The Hebrew Standard' regularly but I cannot find time to read them," replied Rayner. He declared that the glass workers in his district, "will vote for Cleveland to a man," and Nutting replied:

"Not if you give them a fair vote and count."

"Mr. Rayner then attacked "trusts." He admitted that such combinations exist in respect to commodities which are not affected by the tariff, but out of a list of 31 such trusts prepared by him, all except five or six related to articles apon which duties are laid. Then he proceeded to denounce in the most emphatic terms the "Standard Oil Trust," which he declared to be the greatest fraud ever perpetrated upon the people of this country. To the suggestion of Mir. Cannon, that eminent Democratic office-holders in and out of Congress are pecuniarily interested in this fraud, Rayner replied that he idid not care who the "buccaneers" were, whether Democrats or Republicans. While he was holding forth against trusts, William L. Scott appeared in the chamber for the first time in many days, and seemed to be an intent, if unappreciative Mr. Rayner was followed by General Henderlistener.

Mr. Rayner was followed by General Henderson, of Iown, in one of the best speech's of the entire debate. General Henderson represents a district in which are many thousands of prosperous farmers, for whom he has a right to speak. He devoted a good share of his speech to showing that the farmers of Iowa favor the protective for sound reasons affecting their own inthe the farmers of lowa favor the protective tariff for sound reasons affecting their own interest. It has added nearly 30,000 persons to the number of consumers of farm products in his district alone. General Henderson startled the loss to the cargo is not over $500. House with a letter from the Commissioner of Agriculture, declaring that a statement of farm mortgage indebtedness which has figured in several free trade speeches recently never emananted from the Department as claimed by the free traders. In other words, they have tried to foist bogus figures upon the House and the country to belster up a weak cause. General Henderson thought it would be wise to reduce the surplus revenue by repealing the duty on sugar and giving a bounty to enable the domestic grower to compete with the foreign producer.

Mr. Gallinger, of New-Hampshire, closed the debate for the day with a strong and foreible argument against the bill and a scathing arraignment of the Democratic party for the fast-and-loose manner in which it has dealt with the tariff question. letter from the Commissio

MEASURES IN THE SENATE. COINAGE OF SILVER BULLION-THE CHACE COPY-

RIGHT BILL DISCUSSED.

Washington, April 30.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate to-day was one by Mr. STEWART to require the purchase and coinage of not less than $4,000,000 worth of silver builion per month. He said that the bill involved no new principle and asked that it be read a first and second time and laid on Mr. STEWART offered a resolution, which was laid ever, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a statement of the amount of silver bullion offer the Government since the passage of the Silver Coinage Act, and by whom and at what prices; also of the amount of silver bullion purchased each month during the same period, and from whom and at what ces; also whether the question of India Council bills enters to any extent into the determination of the market price of silver bullion in the United States. Mr. SPOONER offered a resolution, which was laid over, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for detailed information as to appointments in the New-York Custom House since March, 1885. The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Railroad Land Forfeiture bill. After discussion, the bill went over without action.

The International Copyright bill wes then taken up. The amendment heretofore offered by Mr. MORRILL (as to republications of magazine and newspaper articles) was withdrawn by his authority, and snother amendment was offered for him by Mr. CHACE, who id he would accept it as a matter of compromise. It was that any publisher of a newspaper or magazine may import for his own use, but not for sale, not re than two copies of a newspaper or magazine published to a foreign country. The amendment was

The bill gave rise to a discussion participated in by Segators VEST. JONES, CHACE, KENNA, CALL and GRAY. No final action was reached on the bill. Senator FRYE to-day offered an amendment which he will propose to the Post Office Appropriation bill when it reaches the Senate. It authorizes the Post-master-General to contract with owners of American-built and registered steamships for the transportation of United States and Senate and South America and the West Indies as will, in his judgment, best serve the Postal Service. The contracts are to be for a period of not less than five and not more than ten years, based upon a compensation not exceeding one cent for each 450 grammes weight on letters, and one-twentieth of one cent for each 450 grammes weight on papers, for each nautical mile transported on the outward trip. CONCRESS AND STANDARD OIL Washington, April 30.—David B. Morey, general freight agent of the Southern lines of the Illinois Central was the first witness before the House Committee on Manufactures to-day. Mr. Gowen attempted to bring out the difference in rates between oil carried in tanks and oil carried in barrels over the railroad

John D. Rockofeller, president of the Standard Oil Trust, said he would furnish to the committee the number of barrels of crude oil refined by all the lines connected with, or controlled by the Standard Oil Trust in the year of 1877; and a statement of the capatity of all president and a statement of the capatity of all president accounts. city of all refineries secured and controlled by the Standard Trust since January 1, 1888. The Trust he said, had not made an attempt to control the prodne said, had not made an attempt to control the prod-net of foreign oil and no person connected with his company, had to his knowledge been appointed consul-to a pert-to the Black Sea.

Clement A. Griscom, of Philadelphia, connected with the National Transit Comany, was next called. He decliened to tell who owned the 6 per cent of the capital of that company not owned by the Standard Trust.

The members of the Produce Exchange met yester-day to protest against the passage of the Brundage bill, now before the State Senate, and to urge that no action be taken on it until a committee of members of the Exchange could be granted a hearing by the Senate Committee on Taxation in opposition to the measure. It was urged that the bill would be detrimental to the city and all classes of business. The resolutions adopted stated that the members were unanimously opposed to the bill on the grounds that it would be a serious menace to the commerce of this port and all commercial interests, that it would drive capital away from this city through the proposed taxation, that it would thus promote the interests of competing trades in other Eastern ports, and, further, that it would depreciate the value of real estate in this city and that "the bill offers a premium on perjury and is impolitic and dangerous in the highest degree." unanimously opposed to the bill on the grounds that

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cremation Company for the election of a board of directors will be held at No. 140 Nassaust., on Monday.

A MYSTRRY THAT RECALLS THE BAHWAY CASE. Miss Adelaide French was, until the middle of March. 1887, employed as cook by G. B. Rosenfeld, at No. 139 Madison-ave. At that time she disappeared. She was a young German woman, twenty-eight years of age, of medium height and a blonds. On account of an adver-tisement a reporter called on Mr. Martin Wulf, a saloon-keeper, at No. 1.061 Second-ave., who said that he was related to the girl, but before she disappeared she had stated to her companions that she had taken another sit-uation in West Fourteenth-st. When four months passed and no word was received from her, the family became alarmed, and informed her brother, H. Frerich, who keeps a grocery at Bergen Point, N. J. He thought that his a greery at Beggar from A. De taogen that a sister was the victim of the Rahway murder of March 26, 1887. THE GIANTS GIVE AWAY ANOTHER GAME.

BAD MANAGEMENT HAS ITS NATURAL RESULT BAD MANAGEMENT HAS ITS NATURAL RESULT—OTHER GAMES AND SCORES.

One of the most exciting games ever played in this city was witnessed by nearly 10,000 people as the Pole Grounds yesterday. The content was between the New-York and Boston clubs, and the latter won after a brilliant struggle of ten innings. The New-York club was beaten simply because the local management allowed Ewing to attempt to play third base. Ewing's binnders precedured the Boston club with a victory which was not deserved. Gore also played with little effect. Weich pitched in good form, and did much better work than Clarkwon on the whole.

pitched in good form, and did much better work than Clarkson on the whole.

The Boston men took the lead in the epening toning by scering one run, an error by Ewing giving the visiting players the advantage. Kelly, the first batter for Boston, sent the ball rolling toward third bese, but Ewing, in his eagerness to make the play, threw the ball far over Connor's head and Helly got to third on the error. He scored on Sutten's sacrifice out from Ward to Connor. In the third inning the Boston men scored another run and increased their lead. Wise made a three-base hit to left field and scored on a wild pitch. The New-Yorkers scored one run in the fourth inning. Ewing made a hit, and on an error by Wise reached third. He scored on a hit to centre field by O'Rourko. Ward made one of his famous bunt hits and scored on a three-bagger to right field by Conner. Conner scored on a wild pitch, and the Giants took the lead. The score was tied in the sixth inning by the visiting men scoring one more run. Keily made a hit, and stealing to second, went to third en a hit just out of Richardson's reach by Wise. Another error by Ewing allowed Felly to score. No wore runs were made until lowed Kelly to score. No more runs were made until the tenth inning, when the visitors scored the winning run. In this inning, after Clarkson had struck out, Kelly sent the ball salling out to centre field for three bases, and scored on a hit to left field by Wiss. The score was

"I have been more or less troubled with scrofula, but never very seriously until the spring of 1882. At that time, I took a severe cold which, not withstanding all efforts to cure, gre w worse, and finally became a chronic catarth. I tried many of the so-called specifics, but obtained no relief until I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using nearly two bottles of this medicine, I noticed an improvement. When I had taken six bottles, all traces of catarth had disappeared and I was restored to perfect health."

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

CALIFORNIA TAX CASES DETERMINED. JUDGMENT OF THE LOWER COURT IN FAVOR OF

THE RAILROADS UPHELD. Washington, April 30.—The Supreme Court of the United States to-day rendered an opinion in cases No. 600 and 664 and No. 1,157; the people of the State of California against the Central Pacific Railroad Company, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the Northern Railway Company and the California Pacific Railroad Company. These cases are commonly known by the name of the California tax cases and have excited constderable interest, not only in California, but in financial circles in the East. These suits were brought by the State of California to recover the State and county taxes laid on the railroads, franchises and rolling stock of the several companies, as assessed by the State Board of Equalization; and do not involve the assessments made by the county boards, nor assessments on the land of the companies, the taxes on which were duly paid. The companies also tendered and paid 60 per cent (in one case 50 per cent) of the taxes sucd for without prejudice to either side as to the remainder. The Circuit Court found these defences to be true in point of fact, and the Supreme Court affirms the judgment of the

V. White. Appeal from the Supreme Court of the Dis-triet of Columbia. Decree in General Term affirmed with appellant, against Charles W. Beebe and others; the Eastern District of Arkansas. This is a suit in equity brought by the Attorney-General on behalf of the United States, to ret sside and cancel certain patents issued in favor of Roswell Beebe in 1838 and 1839, for about 480 acres of land upon which Little Rock, Ark., is parily built. The Court finds that the Government is not the real contestant, and has no interest in the suit, but that it is really a case brought by individuals which might just as well have been brought without the intervention of the United States. The court, therefore, sustains the judgment of the court below, dismissed the case on the ground of the action and the bringing of the suit.

The court rendered an opinion in case No. 205-Louis
D. De Saussure, plantiff in error, against Peter C. Gaillard, treasurer of Charleston County; in error to the Su-preme Court of the State of South Carolina. This case arises out of certain acts of the South Carolina Legislature, providing that all holders of "green bonds" should present their bonds to a State Board which was granted power to inquire into the validity of the bonds, and to exchange such as were found to be a lawful debt against the State for "brown consols." It being the settled doctring of the court not to consider cases which may be disposed of under State laws slone, the suit is accordingly dis missed for want of jurisdiction..

versed. Grunwald and Koehler were born in the same Bavarian village and came to this country at the same time. They established themselves in the Eastern District of Brooklyn as tailors. In course of time Koehler married, and Grunwald was a frequent visitor at his house, until he secured an absolute divorce from his wife. She went with Grunwald to New-Jersey, being prohibited from marrying again in this State, and the two were married in Hobbics. But they returned to Brooklyn to married in Hoboken. But they returned to Brooklyn to live, and after a time Mrs. Grunwald began to meet her former husband and found that she loved him better than she did the man who had won her from him. One day her husband found her going into Koehler's house, and when he upbraided her she deserted him and went back
